About the National Transportation Library

Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century (TEA-21) (1998)

- “establish and maintain a National Transportation Library, which shall contain a collection of statistical and other information needed for transportation decision making at the Federal, State, and local levels.”

Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (MAP-21) (2012)

- Acquire, preserve and manage transportation information and information products and services for use by DOT, other Federal agencies, and the public;
- Serve as the central repository for DOT research results and technical publications; and,
- Serve as the central clearinghouse for transportation data and information of the Federal Government

Foundations for Evidence-Based Policymaking Act of 2018, Title II: The Open, Public, Electronic, and Necessary Government Data Act (OPEN Government Data Act)

- Codifies and superseded M-13-13, making public and open the government default for data derived from research projects

2026: Infrastructure and Jobs Act of 2021 (current surface transportation reauthorization bill) expires 9/30/26.

NTL Archives

A research and reference center devoted to the collection, preservation and dissemination of materials that document the history of the U.S. DOT.

"[T]he Act which I sign today is the most important transportation legislation of our lifetime...It is one of the essential building blocks in our preparation for the future... Transportation has truly emerged as a significant part of our national life. As a basic force in our society, its progress must be accelerated so that the quality of our life can be improved."

-President Lyndon Baines Johnson, signing the DOT Act, October 15, 1966.
