WHAT IS GOVERNMENT INFORMATION?

Definitions and examples

Government Publications

- Works published by or for government agencies
 - Federal
 - State
 - County
 - Municipal
 - Foreign

- Works published by or for governmental or intergovernmental organizations
 - International
 - National
 - Regional

Other Sources

- Legal materials
- Maps and other cartographic materials
- Clearinghouse documents (NTIS, ERIC)
- Archival materials
- Unpublished reports (“gray” literature)
- FOIA documents

PURPOSES AND PRINCIPLES OF CITATION

What we are doing and why

Why Cite?

- Integrity: Give credit to others for their ideas.
- Authority: Support your assertions with respected, reliable sources.
- Direction: Help researchers locate your source to verify statements and explore further.

“Because someday the information that someone else wants will be yours.”

— Son of Citation Machine®

Why Citation Forms?

- To spare the writer or editor from having to think about citation form.
- To economize on space and the reader's time.
- To provide information to the reader.
- To minimize distraction.

University of Chicago Law Review 53:4 (Autumn 1986)

Standard Elements of a Citation

Author. Title. Location: Publisher, Date.

- Who: Author (Who wrote this?)
- What: Title (What is it called?)
- Where: Location (Where did it come from?)
- How: Publisher (How was it made?)
- When: Date of Publication (When was it made?)

Documents Are Different

- Non-traditional publication and distribution methods.
- Multiple, obscure, or missing titles.
- Corporate and personal authors.
- Divided publisher responsibilities.
- Many obscure and complex numbers.
- Multiple, often unconventional formats.
- Neglected by standard style manuals.

Citation is an Art, Not a Science

- No single correct way to cite a document.
- Purpose → content → format.
- An ideal citation will be clear, concise, and consistent so that it provides useful information to the reader quickly and easily with a minimum of distraction.

(Image: Arthur Rothstein, photographer. Atlanta University, Atlanta, Georgia. Students in Library Stacks. March, 1942. Photograph retrieved from the Library of Congress: <https://www.loc.gov/item/2017828802/>)

Who's the Decider?

- The writer can seek out guidance
- The librarian can make suggestions
- The style manual can provide standards

But . . .

The final authority for style and format is always the instructor or editor.

Get a Grip

If wrestling with documents citations has you in knots, follow these three simple steps to dominate your data and maintain control over your format:

- 1) Assemble the information you need for each element of your citation.
- 2) Arrange this information in a standard citation format developed especially for the peculiar characteristics of government publications.
- 3) Adapt your citation to whichever specific style guide you have been assigned to use.

1. Assemble Data Elements

Author: U.S. Navy, Bureau of Aeronautics, Training Division.

Title: Wrestling.

Imprint: Annapolis, MD: Naval Institute, ©1943.

Series: The Naval Aviation Physical Training Manuals.

2. Arrange into a Standard Docs Citation

U.S. Navy, Bureau of Aeronautics. Wrestling. Annapolis, MD: Naval Institute, 1943. (Naval Aviation Physical Training Manuals).

3. Adapt to a Specific Style—e.g., APA

Bureau of Aeronautics (1943). Wrestling.

U.S. Naval Institute.

Garner/Smith Style

- Manual: The Complete Guide to Citing Government Information Resources, 3rd ed. (2002).
- Used for citing federal, state, foreign, and international government information.
- Most comprehensive guide, but is now rather dated.
- Format is based on ANSI/NISO standard.
- Organized by citation elements, not by type of work.
- Quick Citation Guide gives many specific examples.
- Usually needs to be adapted to other styles.

Author Statement

Issuing Agency is almost always considered the author.

Geopolitical Designation:

- Use the common name, followed by a period.
- In a regional publication, put any geopolitical designation after the agency's name.

Umbrella Department and Subagency:

- Give the highest and lowest levels in the hierarchy.
- If the very lowest agency is obscure, you might stop at a level above.
- Well-known agencies don't need the upper-level department.
- If there are multiple agencies, cite the first one as the author.

Personal Author goes in byline after the title unless the work clearly represents a POV other than the agency's.

Author—Examples

Hierarchy: U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration.

Well-known Subagency: U.S. Census Bureau.

State: Pennsylvania. House, Committee on Aging and Older Adult Services.

Municipal: Denton, TX. Public Schools.

Organization: Centre Regional Planning Commission (PA).

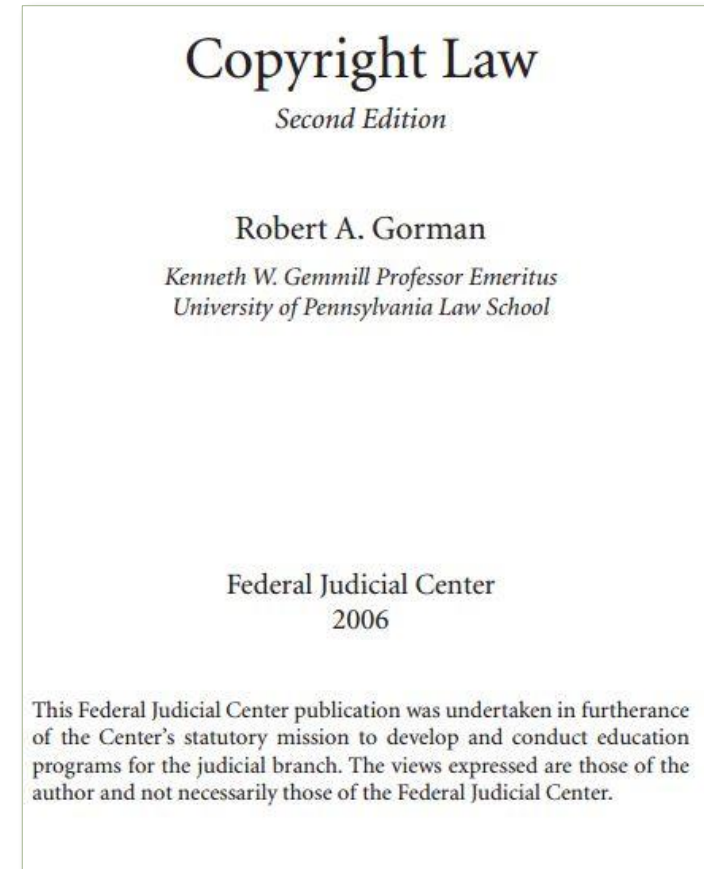

Personal Author—Examples

First Option (Byline after Title):

U.S. Department of Justice, Federal Judicial Center.
Copyright Law. By Robert A. Gorman. 2nd ed.
Washington: Government Printing Office, 2006.
(JU13.2:L41/2006).

Second Option (Name in Primary Position):

Gorman, Robert A. Copyright Law. 2nd ed. Washington:
Federal Judicial Center, 2006. (Distributed by U.S.
Government Printing Office). (JU13.2:L41/2006).

Title Statement

- Multiple titles: Use the one on the title page.
- No title: Indicate the subject in brackets.
- CDs and microform: Take title from document image, not from packaging.
- Titled volume in a set: Include set title, plus volume number and title.
- Project title or series title: Put in a note at the end of the citation.
- Popular title: Put in a note at the end of the citation.

Title—Examples

Volume Title:

U.S. Smithsonian Institution. Handbook of North American Indians. William C. Sturtevant, General Editor. Vol. 2, Indians in Contemporary Society. Volume edited by Garrick A. Bailey. Washington: Government Printing Office, 2008. (SI1.20/2:2).

Series Title:

U.S. Library of Congress, Federal Research Division. Colombia: A Country Study. Edited by Rex A. Hudson. 5th ed. Official U.S. Government edition. Washington: Government Printing Office, 2010. (Area Handbook Series, 550-26). (LC1.60:C71/2010).

Popular Name:

U.S. Department of Justice. Report on the Investigation into Russian Interference in the 2016 Presidential Election. By Robert S. Mueller, III. Redacted version. Official U.S. Government edition. Washington: Government Publishing Office, 2019. (Known as: The Mueller Report). (J1.128:R92/OFFICIAL).

Unique Identifiers

Added after title to distinguish this item from similar works.

Format Statement: Describes the physical nature of the document.

- Medium: Material it is made of, such as microfiche, CD, film, or electronic.
- Publication type: Genre and layout, such as pamphlet, poster, map, or coloring book.

Publication or Report Number: Identification assigned by the issuing agency.

- Usually includes an agency acronym, such as NASA or OSHA.
- Don't confuse with other numbers such as call number, series number, or contract number.

Edition Statement: Distinguishes different versions of the same publication.

- Use the edition statement as it appears on the document.
- Do not add an edition statement if the title indicates the edition.

Unique Identifiers—Examples

Publication Type:

U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Space Travel Hazards (Game) (NP-2009-2-075-GSFC). [Washington, 2009?]. (NAS1.2:T69/2/KIT).

Publication Number:

U.S. Dept. of Health, Education, and Welfare. National Institutes of Health. Discovering Yourself in the Brain Age: Journey to the Universe of Inner Space (Pamphlet) (DHEW Pub. No. (NIH) 72-330). Washington: Government Printing Office, 1973. (HE20.3002:B73/2).

Edition Statement:

Texas State Library. The CREW Method: Expanded Guidelines for Collection Evaluation and Weeding for Small and Medium-Sized Public Libraries. Revised and updated by Belinda Boon from the 1976 CREW Manual by Joseph P. Segal. Austin, TX: TSL, 1995.

Imprint Statement

- Place of Publication:
 - Use place given on document.
 - If no place given, but you can make a guess, put place in brackets.
 - If you can't make a reasonable guess, use "n.p." for "no place."
- Publisher:
 - If GPO is named anywhere in the document, use that as the publisher.
 - If issuing agency is publisher, you don't need to repeat the name in imprint statement. You may leave it out, substitute something like "The Agency," or abbreviate it.
- Date of Publication:
 - Use date of printing, not date of title, data, event, or adoption.
 - Might be year, month, or date. Use form that will help locate the document.
 - If item is undated, use the format [by xxxx] based on date stamp, or "n.d." for "no date."

Imprint—Examples

GPO as Publisher:

U.S. Census Bureau. Statistical Abstract of the United States: 2012. 131st ed. Washington: Government Printing Office, 2011. (C3.134:2012).

Issuing Agency as Publisher:

City of Denton, TX. Comprehensive Plan for Human Services. Prepared by Jim Jones, Director of Community Development, et al. Denton: The City, 1977.

Unknown Place of Publication:

U.S. Dept. of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service. Deskercise (Pamphlet) (IRS Document 6888(9-83)). [Washington?]: IRS, 1983. (T22.2:D46).

Anything Else

Series Statement: Umbrella title for a group of related publications.

- Identify the series title in a note at the end of the citation.
- Include the series number unless it is included elsewhere in the citation.

Notes: Any information that doesn't fit into the other categories.

- Required: Microform set information; Reprint note; Clearinghouse No.; SuDoc No.
- Optional: Language; ISBN; Multimedia characteristics; Catalog number.
- CD/DVD, etc.: Data format; No. of disks; System requirements; Access software, Print documentation. (Include this data only if it seems important to your readers.)
- Anything else that might seem important. Often there are notes in the catalog record that you might want to include here.

Mode of Access: Information on how to access an online electronic document.

Notes—Examples

Series Statement:

Chicago Style

- Manual: The Chicago Manual of Style, 17th ed. (2017).
- Popular guide to manuscript preparation.
- Used in business and humanities.
- Two options: Author-Date or Notes-Bibliography; Author-Date style puts date after author's name.
- Single space, hanging indent.
- Use US abbreviation in author statement.
- Series title goes after main title, not in note field.
- Use periods between elements. Do not put publication data in parentheses.

Chicago Style—Example

Geopolitical Unit and Agency. Title: Subtitle.
Editor, compiler, or translator. Edition. Series title, vol., no. Place of publication: Publisher, year of publication. Notes. URL.

US Department of Health and Human Services.
National Institutes of Health. National Cancer
Institute. *Taking Part in Cancer Treatment
Research Studies.* NIH Publication No. 16-
6249. [Bethesda, MD?]: NCI Office of
Communications and Public Liaison, 2016.
<http://purl.fdlp.gov/GPO/gpo115571>.

APA Style

- Manual: Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 7th ed. (2020).
- Used in social sciences and for scientific papers.
- Use lowest-level agency as author and upper-level agencies as publisher unless confusion would result.
- Separate government levels with commas.
- Put date in parentheses after author.
- Put title in sentence case.
- Omit place of publication; omit publisher if same as author.

APA Style—Example

Subagency as Issuing Agency. (Date). Title of work (Publication No.) [Publication type]. Umbrella Agency as Publisher. DOI or URL.

Bureau of the Chief Postal Inspector. (1967). Use and care of revolvers. [Handbook]. U.S. Post Office Department; distributed by U.S. Government Printing Office.

MLA Style

- Manual: MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers, 8th ed. (2016).
- Used in liberal arts and humanities.

One Template: Every source uses the same template for formatting.

Core Elements: Put information where relevant for your purposes; omit any element that does not apply.

Containers: A source may nest within a container, which may nest within another container. Each container has its core elements.

Other Considerations:

- Omit the place of publication in book citations.
- If the issuing agency is also the publisher, omit the author statement.
- Optional information may added at end or where relevant.

- 1 Author.
- 2 Title of source.
- 3 Title of container,
- 4 Other contributors,
- 5 Version,
- 6 Number,
- 7 Publisher,
- 8 Publication date,
- 9 Location.

MLA Style—Example

Author. "Title." Optional elements. Title of container, other contributors, version, number, Publisher, Publication Date, Location. Optional elements. Title of 2nd container, Other contributors, version, Number, Publisher, Publication date, Location. Optional elements.

Sousa, John Philip. "The Liberty Bell: March." 1893. The Complete Marches of John Philip Sousa, edited and corrected by Jason K. Fettig and Donald Patterson, vol. 3, no. 48, United States Marine Band, 2016. Audio track, full score, and parts. United States Marines. marineband.marines.mil/Audio-Resources/The-Complete-Marches-of-John-Philip-Sousa/The-Liberty-Bell-March/. Accessed 28 June 2020.

Citing Electronic Documents

Cite the most official, accessible, and permanent form of access:

- If there's a paper version: you may cite as a paper document.
- If there's a DOI or PURL: cite that instead of a more unstable URL.
- If citing from a commercial database: include name of vendor, but not URL.

Mode of Electronic Access Statement (use the most direct link available):

- Direct link to document or data: Available at: Name of site or database, URL; Accessed: Date.
- Commercial database: Text [or Data] from: Name of database; Accessed: Date.
- Menu-driven access: Retrieved from: Database: 1st Menu item: 2nd Menu item; Accessed: Date.
- Dynamically generated data set: Data generated using: [Data Extraction System]. Available at: Name of site or database, URL; Accessed: Date.

No imprint statement (unless official version is available in physical format).

Continually updated data: Add update frequency statement after title.

Citing Unpublished Works

Archival Materials:

- Provide author, title or description, date, and type of material.
- Include a note identifying the collection, box number and other identifying numbers, archives name, institutional affiliation, and location.
- Check website or contact archive directly for preferred citation form.

FOIA Documents:

- Provide author and agency affiliation, title or description of document, identifying numbers, date, and number of pages.
- Include identifying numbers, agency you contacted, and how and when you obtained the document.

Internal Documents:

Indicate geopolitical unit and issuing agency, title or description of document, type of material, “n.p.” for not published, and date.

Unpublished Works—Examples

Archival Material:

Below this is a sidebar menu for Citation Styles (MLA, APA, Chicago) and Resource Types (Book, Anthology, Periodical, Journal, Magazine, Newspaper, Multimedia, DVD or Video, Online Only, Entire Website, Website Document). The main content area is titled 'Citing a Basic Book in Chicago Format (Click for Help)' and contains a form with the following fields: Compiled By (dropdown menu set to Author), Number of Authors (dropdown menu set to 1), Author's Name (First, M., Last), Book Title, Edition, Volume, Published by, Publishing City, Is the city well known? (Yes/No dropdown), Year Published, and Where was the Source Found? (radio buttons for Print and Online). There are Submit and Reset buttons at the bottom of the form. Below the form is a banner for Calvin University Admissions, featuring the text '#1 IN THE MIDWEST', 'BEST COLLEGES IN THE MIDWEST', and 'FIND OUT WHY' with the Calvin University logo. At the very bottom, a footer contains the following text: 'We use the 8th ed. of MLA, 6th ed. of APA, and 17th ed. of Chicago (9th ed. Turabian). Maintained by the Hekman Library at Calvin University, Grand Rapids, MI - 82,458,153 citations and counting! Questions, Comments, or Bugs regarding KnightCite itself? Send us an email. Words of Advice

It Depends: There is no universally accepted citation format.

One Message, Many Expressions: Elements of a citation are the same; only arrangement and formatting change. Even one style may offer multiple options.

Sometimes You Need to Improvise: Instructions are not always clear or complete.

It Gets Easier with Practice: Knowledge and skills develop with experience.

Go Ask Your Mother: The editor or instructor, not the librarian, is the final authority.

What Really Matters: Are citations clear, concise, and consistent? Can a reader find the document easily and be confident in its usefulness?
