Is DiscoverGov Primo?

from Jennifer Lindley to everyone: 4:23 PM spoilers!

from Charlie she-her Amiot to everyone: 4:23 PM
More like trying to save myself trauma!

from Charlie she-her Amiot to everyone: 4:24 PM
Sometimes I literally dream of the nightmare that is the documentation of a migration.

I was just typing that!

from Margaret McGuire to everyone: 4:46 PM
cool trivia!

from Kelly Seifert to everyone: 4:47 PM
You win the prize, Andie!

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 4:48 PM
Will this replace MetaLib? Or do they do different things?

from Andrea Craley to everyone: 4:48 PM
No worrie at all, you were saying it as I was typing, so not really fair. Not quick enough :) Save if for another :)

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 4:48 PM Yay for a QR code maker and citation generator!

from Gwen Sinclair to everyone: 4:51 PM +1 Daniel

from Andrea Craley to everyone: 4:51 PM Agreed, yay for the QR code maker! Right now, I've been using a free Adobe tool for that from Thomas Lynch to everyone: 4:51 PM unmute!

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 4:52 PM
Will any other citation styles be added in the future?

from Kathy Hale to everyone: 4:53 PM
Will this replace Govinfo?

from Andrea Craley to everyone: 4:53 PM
Just got a 3rd bingo :)

from Amy Fitch to everyone: 4:54 PM +1 Andrea

from Kate Irwin-Smiler to everyone: 4:54 PM
Is the "harvard 1" citation style the Bluebook (legal citation)?

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 4:54 PM
+1 Kate

from Christopher Brown to everyone: 4:54 PM
I would vote for Chicago/Turabian Author-Date style

from Kate Irwin-Smiler to everyone: 4:55 PM Christopher: Chicago/Turabian is on the list.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 4:55 PM if the metadata is made available for zotero, you can change those styles on the fly

from Trina Magi to everyone: 4:56 PM
Do you find that PRIMO is capable of accurately sorting items in SUDOC order? We use PRIMO at our library and we have had trouble wtih this.

from Christopher Brown to everyone: 4:56 PM
Yes, but it's Chicago/Turabian Notes-Bibliography style

from James Jacobs to everyone: 4:57 PM
I don't see the slides in FDLP academy handouts. will they be made available later?

from Eimmy Solis to everyone: 4:57 PM
How often are new records going to uploaded? Are the same records that were available through Marcive going to be uploaded into DiscoverGov?

from James Jacobs to everyone: 4:58 PM
yay exports to major citation management systems. hopefully zotero is one of them!

from Lucy Duhon to everyone: 4:59 PM
You may have already answered this with the QR code maker, but Is it possible to save a canned search (WITH results) to post within a libguide (for example)?

from Rich Gause to everyone: 4:59 PM
RIS format will load to Zotero

from James Jacobs to everyone: 4:59 PM +1 rich

from Kara Oxendine to everyone: 5:00 PM
Will there be a search engine that can be embedded in Libguides or websites? We have custom Primo search engines on our website and it would be nice to embed this directly on our government documents page.

from JoAnna McCulley to everyone: 5:00 PM
+1 Kara

from Margaret McGuire to everyone: 5:01 PM
+1 Kara

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:01 PM
you may have already mentioned this, but what databases are included in this search besides CGP and govinfo?

from Kelly Smith to everyone: 5:02 PM
+1 James

from Lucy Duhon to everyone: 5:02 PM +1 Kara - similar to my question

from Andrea Craley to everyone: 5:02 PM
+1 James

from Leah Grote to everyone: 5:02 PM Idk the capabilities of this system, but have you thought about an alert system? Like patrons can sign up for specific keywords and get alerts when new documents are added.

from Andrea Craley to everyone: 5:02 PM
+1 Kara

from Kate Irwin-Smiler to everyone: 5:02 PM
So that's a no on Bluebook.

from Kate Irwin-Smiler to everyone: 5:03 PM
I just double checked in our catalog -definitely not Bluebook. (and Zotero isn't great at it either.)

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:03 PM
thanks David

from Kathy Hale to everyone: 5:04 PM
Will this replace Govinfo?

from Rich Gause to everyone: 5:04 PM
although I doubt we'll have a login functionality to save results, but is there the Primo "pin" function to gather results and then act on the pinned group?

from Eimmy Solis to everyone: 5:04 PM
Thank you!

from Lisa Russell to everyone: 5:04 PM
I think there was a question about whether this will replace MetaLib.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:06 PM and will you be able to select the dbs you want to search? for example, I want to search CGP and some other federal db together

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:07 PM ah ok that makes sense that it would be the same dbs as metalib

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:07 PM
https://metalib.gpo.gov/V?RN=686843724

from Trina Magi to everyone: 5:07 PM
Do you find that PRIMO is capable of accurately sorting items in SUDOC order? We use PRIMO at our library and we have had trouble wtih this.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:08 PM
so now there will be CGP, govinfo, metalib and discovergov

from Rich Gause to everyone: 5:09 PM
will left column filter allow you to break out results seeing number of hits from each database?

from Trina Magi to everyone: 5:10 PM
Thanks. I agree that proper spacing in SUDOC numbers seems to help.

from Andrea Stelljes to everyone: 5:10 PM
Is this still in the development stage? When will it be available to the public?

from Elisabeth Garner to everyone: 5:11 PM @Andrea, I think the previous slide mentioned it would be launched before the end of 2024

from Andrea Stelljes to everyone: 5:11 PM Great! Thank you!

from Rich Gause to everyone: 5:12 PM can items in results list be marked to gather them and then act on them as a group of specific items, such as exporting

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 5:13 PM
Will CGP still exist as a separate database?

from Gwen Sinclair to everyone: 5:13 PM
I am really looking forward to trying it out when it is released!

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 5:13 PM Okay, thank you! Glad to hear.

from Arlene Weible to everyone: 5:13 PM
Is there a reason this service will not replace MetaLib? I guess I'm not understanding why there is a need to have both available.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 5:13 PM
Thank you! Looking forward to trying it out when it arrives!

from Becki White to everyone: 5:14 PM
Is this intended to be aimed more at public users, or at information professionals/librarians/researchers?

from Arlene Weible to everyone: 5:14 PM
Oh, okay. It will be phased out eventually ... I'm just worried about confusion and overlap.

from Andrea Stelljes to everyone: 5:15 PM
+ Arlene

from Amy Fitch to everyone: 5:16 PM +Arlene

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:16 PM that was my concern as well Arlene

from Christopher Brown to everyone: 5:16 PM
Is this a hybrid model, where CGP and GovInfo items are ingested into the system, but external databases are searched via a broadcast search?

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:17 PM
It's already confusing because what's in CGP is not necessarily in govinfo and vice versa

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:17 PM
oh come on show us a sample :-)

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:17 PM live searches on beta apps is always fun

from Christopher Brown to everyone: 5:18 PM Thanks!

from James Jacobs to everyone: 5:18 PM
thanks david

from Rich Gause to everyone: 5:19 PM
Will items find their way into the Alma Community Zone? become Alma CZ Collections that can be activated so that they can also become part of our users' search results locally without having to search a separate database?

from Andrea Craley to everyone: 5:20 PM
In my cataloger's brain, I see this as: Disover.gov is a discovery layer that sits overtop various resources (like a one stop shop), since it sounds like Primo is what is being used. The CGP is an ILS (library catalog).
Govinfo is another resource of many collections. So Discover.gov sits overtop these to search them all.
(For example, we use Polaris as our ILS and Ebsco EDS as a discovery layer overtop so search the ILS and databases, etc. So that's how I understand this. And it would make sense to eventually replace Metalib

from Kara Oxendine to everyone: 5:21 PM That's what I was thinking as well Andrea

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 5:22 PM
Thank you Andrea and David. That explanation helps a lot.

from Wanda Adams to everyone: 5:22 PM

Thank you.

from Stephen Kharfen to everyone: 5:22 PM
