Hathi Trust has/had a U.S. Federal Documents Program? <https://www.hathitrust.org/member-libraries/services-programs/us-fed-docs/>

from Heather Weltin to everyone: 1:29 PM

HathiTrust does still have a U.S. Federal Documents Program.

What is the recommended policy concerning circulation of items in the shared collection? Is it in-library use only to minimize risk of loss of the only copy left in the system?

from Heather Weltin to everyone: 1:34 PM

from Bernadine Abbott Hoduski to everyone: 1:34 PM

do you ever put out request for missing parts of serials to many library sies

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:34 PM Hi Heather!

from Heather Weltin to everyone: 1:34 PM
Hi James! (and everyone).

from Heather Weltin to everyone: 1:36 PM
The HathiTrust shared print program does have U.S. Fed Doc single part monographs included but that was not an intentional scope. We hope to change this though!

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:37 PM
what would it take to make FDLP a shared print program?

from Suzanne Ebanues to everyone: 1:37 PM
For Preservation Stewards, it is up to the individual library to determine circulation status. We prefer in library use only, but understand that is not always possible.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:39 PM and Jess, can docs in the feddocarch be ILL'd to non-UC libraries?

from James Jacobs to e

from Arlene Weible to everyone: 1:39 PM @James I think it will take more intentional policies and infrastructure to successfully manage FDLP shared print collections than what currently exists in the program. It strikes me from Rebecca's slides that central coordination and policies are really needed for success.

from Jesse Silva to everyone: 1:40 PM Hi James: At this point, they can only go to libraries in CA. That may be changing in the future.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:40 PM
+1 Arlene. would love a true union catalog :-)

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:40 PM
thanks jesse

from Trina Magi to everyone: 1:43 PM
How do you build some measure of equity into shared print programs, so that each participating institution gives something and gets something? An administrator might be cautious about doing this if they fear their institution will bear an undue burden while others get to "lighten their load" in terms of space and materials management. How is it all funded?

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:43 PM
I'm not even a plant :-)

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:44 PM

it worries me that so many FDL's are actively weeding with no system perspective

from Bernadine Abbott Hoduski to everyone: 1:44 PM me too

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:45 PM +1 James

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:45 PM we're members of WEST and also very active in the western NCSA for FDLP. But there's a venn diagram there that's not a perfect circle

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:46 PM
so it would be very difficult to get FDLP materials into the WEST system

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:48 PM
it would be great if there were a list of libraries in each of the NCSA's that are actively accepting documents to fill gaps. That way weeding libraries could check those catalogs and send docs to fill gaps

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:49 PM and a true union catalog would also be useful for weeding libraries to check and see how many copies are still in the system from Scott Matheson to everyone: 1:49 PM @JAMES - those could be listed as Needs in eXchange and the match would happen automatically if the weeding library listed offers.

from Suzanne Ebanues to everyone: 1:49 PM Preservation Stewards are required to add a retention note in their cataloging records. Coming soon are Preservation Steward item records and holdings in the CGP.

from David Isaak to everyone: 1:49 PM Poster mentioned by Shari: <https://fdlp.gov/file-download/download/public/25787>

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:50 PM yes SCott, but it's trickier than that. I don't know what I need unless I check my catalog and shelves :-) from Janelle Nash to everyone: 1:50 PM

The poster title Shari mentioned is Recording Our Commitment! Describing FDLP Print Distribution Title Retention Commitments with SPA. Thanks for sharing the link, David.

from Suzanne Ebanues to everyone: 1:50 PM @James, Our Collection Management Librarian actively helps Preservation Stewards fill gaps. She transferred over 5000 items to Preservation Stewards last year!

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:51 PM
ooh that's good to hear Suzanne.

from Rebecca Crist to everyone: 1:51 PM

James--ASERL runs a disposition database for libraries seeking to offer and fill gaps in our network. Not sure if you can access it from a non-member library, but read about it here:
<https://guides.uflib.ufl.edu/ASERL-DispositionDB>

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:51 PM

thanks Rebecca

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:52 PM basically I don't want to have to check every N&O for the one possible needed doc for every 10k title :-)

from Arlene Weible to everyone: 1:52 PM

NCSA's do not yet really have the policies and infrastructure to manage collections collaboratively ... but we are working towards this. It can be hard when there are not official agreements (other than Preservation Stewards) that specify what libraries are committing to hold. This is a hard conversation to have with library administrators.

from Abby McDermott to everyone: 1:53 PM

And just to add, since ASERL Docs Database was mentioned, many region's of the FDLP use FDLP eXchange for discard review, and *any* depository library can put needs into FDLP eXchange. You can also search FDLP eXchange for needs (which are libraries adding publications to their collections):
<https://www.fdlp.gov/collection-tools/fdlp-eXchange>

from Abby McDermott to everyone: 1:53 PM

Here are instructions on how to offer nationally in FDLP eXchange: <https://www.fdlp.gov/using-fdlp-exchange-to-offer-materials-nationally>

from Arlene Weible to everyone: 1:53 PM

@James FDLP has a real struggle when it comes to the data part of shared print model ... frankly, our data and tools for sharing it are not that great.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:54 PM

that's why I want a list of accepting libraries. If eXchange could automatically search my catalog and ping me when there's an offer that fills a gap that would be awesome

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:54 PM

There's definitely opportunity for more libraries to use FDLP exchange. Only a minority of NCSA-West libraries use it. Imagine use in other NCSAs is similar but cannot prove.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:55 PM

I think we're going to have to shift our thinking to be more "shared print" esque.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:55 PM

agreed Arlene. data is definitely a barrier

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:55 PM

And very important for libraries to offer nationally if they can. Sometimes that can contribute to others' digitization projects as well as filling print gaps.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:57 PM
"it's going to be unsolvable" Shari Laster

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:57 PM
lol

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:57 PM
Perhaps offering nationally could be changed from opt-in to opt-out? Defaults matter, though so does library's freedom of choice.

from James Jacobs to everyone: 1:57 PM
I actually laughed out loud at that Shari

from Arlene Weible to everyone: 1:58 PM
Relationship building is really important that NCSA's can work on ... but that will take time, as I'm sure these panelists would agree!

from Rebecca Crist to everyone: 1:58 PM Arlene--truth!

from Rebecca Crist to everyone: 1:58 PM
Please feel free to reach out to any of us

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:58 PM
+1 Arlene - relationship building will be KEY.

thanks all!
