

Q&A Follow-Up: FDLP Pre-Meeting Updates – Chat Log

from Betty Monterroso to everyone: 1:47 PM

At UNT we gave our fiche to the Internet Archive. This was a few years ago.

from Arlene Fialkoff to everyone: 1:48 PM

Good! We've been needing an updated List of Classes!

from Brian Hamilton to everyone: 1:48 PM

Agreed!

from Charlie Amiot to everyone: 1:49 PM

@Betty a great place to send them! And helps support this:

from Jill Strykowski to everyone: 1:49 PM

OMG. Charlie's document is amazing. This should be required reading for GovDocs classes in Library School's!

from Scott Matheson to everyone: 1:49 PM

The List of Classes is here, with update information <https://www.fdlp.gov/depository-tools/list-of-classes>

from Cynthia Etkin to everyone: 1:49 PM

To see the review copy of the preservation policy, see the Open Request for Comments webpage:

<https://fdlp.gov/about/open-request-comments>

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:49 PM

Thanks! So we should wait till mid year before reporting issues with LoC?

from Charlie Amiot to everyone: 1:49 PM

@Jill, no, it's Gwen's book that should be required reading.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:50 PM

+1 Charlie - though her transition is great.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:51 PM

transition guide

from Jill Strykowski to everyone: 1:51 PM

LOL. @Charlie, I don't have that one open on my computer right now. So, I might change my mind based on what's in front of my face next

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 1:51 PM

James Jacobs x2 book on preserving gov info is really good too - and ebook available too

from Kelly Smith to everyone: 1:51 PM

+1 Jenny

from Charlie Amiot to everyone: 1:51 PM
Jen!!! A great GPO addition to our CDSS team.

from Jill Strykowski to everyone: 1:52 PM @Jenny, James's book is old news to me. I'm just seeing Charlie's and Gwen's now. ;)

from Antoine McGrath to everyone: 1:53 PM
James' book free in ebook form <https://freegovinfo.info/pgi/>

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 1:54 PM
GovInfo is so important because it is authenticated, verified AND has multiple download formats

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:54 PM
+10 Jenny. Those three factors are important.

from Kelly Seifert to everyone: 1:55 PM
About the FDLP Web Archive: <https://www.fdlp.gov/fdlp-web-archive>

from Jill Strykowski to everyone: 1:56 PM
And it's all backed up in Internet Archive (just in case)

from Kelly Seifert to everyone: 1:56 PM
More Info on collecting and maintaining content for permanent public access can be found at the 33:30 mark of our Spring 2025 FDLP Pre-Meeting: <https://fdlp.gov/training/2025-spring-dlc-fdlp-pre-meeting-updates-gpo>

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:56 PM
Huzzah for Archive-IT. We use it for Alaska State Agencies.

from David Cox to everyone: 1:57 PM @Daniel so appreciative of Alaska State Library agency archiving!

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:58 PM
@David Cox - You're welcome! I'll pass your thanks onto Katie - she's the lead for state websites and does TONS of work in that area.

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 1:58 PM
Connecticut State Library also uses Archive-IT for CT executive branch agencies. Not me - our conn Docs librarian.

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 1:59 PM
+1 David - yes. I think I link to it for a collaborative guide on gov info resources for History Day

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 1:59 PM
I experience prompt responses and usually fixes when reporting broken PURLs. It's better if you're able to suggest a correct site.

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 2:00 PM
+1 Daniel - I have the same experience.

from Beth Downing to everyone: 2:02 PM
I have found records in my catalog with notes that the PURL is no longer active, but have found that the PURL does work. Are the notes in the catalog record updated when a new target is located?

from Scott Matheson to everyone: 2:02 PM
See the Summary of Exceptions section of <https://www.ada.gov/resources/2024-03-08-web-rule>.

from Lisa Pritchard to everyone: 2:03 PM
Making a case that this content is an allowable exception is a great idea! Thank you.

from Kelly Smith to everyone: 2:03 PM
+1 Lisa

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:03 PM
Thank you, I worry about web accessibility in particular a lot.

from Charlie Amiot to everyone: 2:03 PM
MORE STEWARDS!!!!

from Brent Abercrombie to everyone: 2:04 PM
Yes, more STEWARDS!

from Suzanne Ebanues to everyone: 2:04 PM Preservation Steward by SuDoc: <https://fdlp.gov/collaborations-with-gpo/partnerships/preservation-stewards#resources-and-documentation>

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 2:04 PM
I want to stress that general public pamphlets should be preserved - they serve useful role in legal cases demonstrating "common knowledge" of a point in time.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:05 PM
Jenny - Never occurred to me that public pamphlets could provide that evidence. Good reminder!

from Elisabeth Garner to everyone: 2:06 PM
One of my work goals for this year, (my supervisor suggested! :) was for me to create two Libguides: America's 250th and North Carolina celebrates 250+ years

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:06 PM @Jenny, what type of public pamphlets?

from Charlie Amiot to everyone: 2:06 PM
12th Man perspective/laywer: Do they demonstrate common knowledge, or knowledge the government believes is lacking commonly?

from Jennifer Lindley to everyone: 2:06 PM

@Beth, yes, we typically remove the 856 $z note when we're able to restore access. Please reach out to askGPO if you find a confusing record in the CGP.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:06 PM

If anyone has U.S. Army Campaigns of the Revolutionary War (series) (Item 0344-G-15, D 114.7/9:), consider pulling them out for a display.

from Abby McDermott to everyone: 2:06 PM

You can learn about partnerships to support the National Collection from the Collaborations page on FDLP.gov, and we would love to discuss Preservation Steward partnerships with any any all of you! <https://fdlp.gov/collaborations-with-gpo>

from Jennifer Lindley to everyone: 2:07 PM

@Beth again, you may want to make sure updated records are loading to your local catalog.

from JoAnna McCulley to everyone: 2:07 PM

Love the promotional items!

from Kelly Seifert to everyone: 2:07 PM

<https://www.fdlp.gov/promotion>

from Kathy Piselli to everyone: 2:07 PM

Are Color Me Civics bilingual coloring books ever coming back?

from Bernadette Johnson Bernadette to everyone: 2:07 PM

The pocket constitutions are pretty popular at my institution. :)

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:07 PM

@Daniel, that's a good idea.

from Becki White to everyone: 2:07 PM

Got my new Discover.gov pens today!!

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:08 PM

THANKS SO MUCH FOR THIS CHART! It explains why I saw "i" next to all the CRS reports.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:09 PM

The MARC URLs export file is an easy way to see what in your EL profile items. Be aware it seems to have changed records as well as newly cataloged records.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:10 PM

It would be nice to have a marker for a NEW record vs a changed record - if feasible.

from Mary Ellen Lomax-Bellare to everyone: 2:10 PM

Will more pens be offered. I do not see them any longer on the list of giveaways?

from Scott Matheson to everyone: 2:10 PM
(And thanks for this question that let us update the help screens - better for all!)

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 2:10 PM
For those who haven't heard - in 2001 I became a coordinator at a selective where I was charged to dramatically weed historic collection. I started with superceded pamphlets, in between quarterly discard lists sent to Regional Afterall - Regionals have everything - right? WRONG! I withdrew a 1970s pamphlet on lead paint that law firms and court clerks knew was the only copy in the state. Years later I get to state library and learn NOT at Regional. Thanksully, Scott Matheson had a copy at Yale and he sent a scan of it. Unfortunately, CT courts would not accept electronic format in evidence.

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:12 PM
@Jenny, that makes more sense now, thanks!

from Jill Strykowski to everyone: 2:12 PM
oh wow. @Jenny, what an important case study!

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 2:13 PM
@Cassandra - also used as primary sources in history research. History Day students use them often. But the court case use is important

from Jessica Robinson to everyone: 2:14 PM
Any updates on the search for a new ILS?

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:14 PM
@Jenny, that makes sense. It definitely underscores the importance of checking to make sure that the institution doesn't have the only copy of something!

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:14 PM
@Jenny, we never know when a source will become important.

from Kathy Piselli to everyone: 2:15 PM
About Civil Rights coloring book: Thanks for the update! They were very popular here in Atlanta.

from Ashley Dahlen to everyone: 2:16 PM
Sorry Jessica! I missed your question!

from Troy Black to everyone: 2:16 PM
The pens are great for table setups at university events to promote the libraries and the FDLP program and gov doc resources.

from Jessica Robinson to everyone: 2:16 PM
Good luck with the process!

from Jill Strykowski to everyone: 2:16 PM
Everyone loves a good ILS migration!

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:16 PM
+1 Jessica

from Kelly Smith to everyone: 2:17 PM
I asked a question yesterday about GPO/Council plans for the Biennial question on mistrust of government resources?

from Rhonda Murphy to everyone: 2:17 PM
Thank you, everyone.

from Becki White to everyone: 2:17 PM
Looks like the coloring books are still available to download.

from Jenny Groome to everyone: 2:17 PM
+1 Kelly

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:17 PM @Kelly, I curious about that too.

from Becki White to everyone: 2:17 PM
<https://www.uscis.gov/citizenship-resource-center/naturalization-test-and-study-resources/the-families-learning-civics-together-toolkit/color-me-civics-us-landmarks-and-symbols-coloring-book>

from Gwen Sinclair to everyone: 2:18 PM @kelly mistrust question will be discussed briefly later in the conf.

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:18 PM
*I am

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:18 PM @Gwen, thanks!

from Kelly Smith to everyone: 2:18 PM
thanks Gwen

from Charlie Amiot to everyone: 2:18 PM
Make a zine page, call it work! Nobody will know!

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:18 PM
Thank you! Really like this format!

from Channa Cajero to everyone: 2:18 PM
Thanks!

from Ronnie Joiner to everyone: 2:18 PM
The landing page for the Families Learning Civics Together Toolkit has been taken down, probably because it was developed to go with the 2008 test.

from Cassandra Wenzel to everyone: 2:18 PM
Thanks!

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:19 PM
@Charlie LOL!

from Ashley Dahlen to everyone: 2:20 PM Break until 3:00 p.m. Eastern

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:57 PM
Fun tidbit - as a direct result of the National Transportation Library presentation. I linked to three Alaska-based FAA newsletter from a digital newspapers index page we maintain - See <https://lam.alaska.gov/newspaperindexes> - I expect this to be helpful to people with CAA/FAA family ties and folks looking for aviation practices in Alaska.

from Daniel Cornwall to everyone: 2:58 PM
NTL ROSA P has other FAA employee newsletters, you might check to see if your area is covered!

from Gwen Sinclair to everyone: 2:59 PM
Great, Daniel!
